

We are currently finishing the beta testing for version 2.9, look forward to its release shortly.

There has also been some good community articles / discussions about LextEdit recently. Jon Nazario posted an article to his Blog articulating many of the rich features offered by LextEdit. Productivity is something LextEdit can help with, check out his article and learn a few new hidden benefits of using LextEdit. You can also follow the articles discussion on LinkedIn within the RedPrairie Group Discussions located here
